

Capacity Audience at Legion Victory Ball At New Armory Friday

William Jordan Received Silver Star for Gallantry in Action—Roger Loughran Presents Medal—Entertainers Enjoyed.

With a capacity crowd in attendance, the annual Victory Ball of the Kingston Post, American Legion, was held in the new armory Friday night and was featured by the presentation of a Silver Star for gallantry in action to William Jordan of 113 Spring street. Roger H. Loughran, local attorney, and a Legionnaire, made the presentation at the solemn 11 o'clock services commemorating those who lost their lives in the World War or died since the Armistice.

The memorial service consisted of the recitation of taps by Chaplain Albert H. Shultis, the sounding of the solemn notes on the bugle by Frank Sars, and the singing of "Ave Maria" by Thomas Dolan, all of Kingston Post.

In receiving the medal Jordan became a member of the Order of the Silver Star. "The medal," said Attorney Loughran, "outfits the Iron Cross of Germany and the Croix de Guerre of France and is superseded only in France by the Legion of Honor and in England by the Victoria Cross."

Conferring the Silver Star, Attorney Loughran spoke as follows: "While I am proud of the opportunity to take this humble part in this ceremony this evening, I must say that my duties have not been easy. When I was first commissioned to make the presentation of this award of merit I, naturally, looked for material upon which I could base an address.

"I tried to find out what you had done in service to entitle you to receive this honor and my first call was upon you. I must say that you have not been of much help to me. On account of your inherent modesty just about the only facts I extracted from you was that you enlisted, performed a term of service and received an honorable discharge. Enlisted at Fourteen.

"But by conversation with friends who have known you in service and from official records and from copies of citations issued to you which I have obtained from the War Department of the United States I have learned that you are as brave as you are modest and that your glorious record of service speaks while you are silent. I have learned that at the age of fourteen you enlisted in the army in February, 1916.

"I have learned that you saw service at the battle of the Popperinghe line near Tynes in Belgium in July and August, 1918; that you were in the Dickbeugh sector, Belgium, in August, 1919; you fought in the Hindenburg Line in September of the same year and that you were at the battle of the La Salle river the next month and at Jone de Neu Ridge and at St. Souper where you were wounded.

"I have been told that you have received from the French government under General Order 157 a citation of heroism in saving women and children under shell fire at Saint Souper; that you have received from the United States government under General Order 67 a citation for repeated demonstration of courage and service in carrying messages under constant enemy fire, and under General Order 53 a citation for carrying wounded under heavily shell fire.

Cites Service Record.
"You are the holder of a ten-year service medal. You have had conferred upon you a medal making you a member of the distinguished Order of the Purple Heart. This medal is for military merit and is adorned with a cluster. You have a medal for service on the Mexican border and another given by the State of New York for conspicuous military service.

"I know that if by hearsay I have been able to learn these things about your service, there is a great deal more that I have been unable to learn and that it would take greater part of the rest of the evening were I able to recount the details of your other acts of heroism. But you say, 'I am not thanked at all. I'm thanked enough. I've done my duty and I've done no more.' But we, your friends, wish to do more than thank you here tonight. We wish to pay homage to a man who has acted well his part, for therein all honor lies. We are glad tonight that we are able to do this. We are glad that you are here and that it is not true that the path of glory leads but to the grave. We recognize that he who serves most who serves his country best.

Taxpayers Submit Reasons for Joining

The membership committee of the Kingston Taxpayers Association submits the following reasons why every taxpayer should become a member of the association:

Practically all money required for running the city government is raised by taxes levied on real estate. In theory, some of this burden should fall on citizens and voters who are not property owners, through rents, etc., but actually in times like the present, the tax rates are higher while rentals are lower. This unfair burden on property owners makes it vitally necessary that the people who are paying the taxes should present a united front in insisting that the running expenses of the city should be curtailed in proportion to the manner in which private business and individual families have been forced to economize.

It is the intention of the Kingston Taxpayers Association to appoint a competent committee to check the city budget which will soon be presented for the approval of the board of aldermen and the citizens at large. It is unfair to expect any individual to oppose the approval of the city budget after it has been presented for approval and it is hopeless to expect any results from such feeble protests, but if a representative group of taxpayers, such as this association, insist on reasonable treatment, the budget makers must naturally give more consideration to such a protest.

Now is the time to join together in a united effort to save taxpayers money. The association needs your moral support and above all, your attendance at the monthly meetings. The dues are $1.00 per year and the next meeting, Monday, November 13, at 8 p. m., at the city hall.

Hart's Wallet Found On Oil Tanker Deck

Report That Hart Family Had Contacted With Kidnappers Is Denied by Parents and Police—$40,000 Ransom Also Denied.

San Francisco, Nov. 11 (AP)—Discovery of a wallet bearing the name and containing personal cards of Brooke L. Hart, who was kidnapped from San Jose Thursday, was reported to authorities here today.

The wallet, on which Hart's name was embossed in gold letters, was found on an oil tanker in San Francisco Bay. Authorities said the tanker had been docked alongside the liner Lurline, which sailed for Los Angeles at 12:15 p. m. yesterday.

Los Angeles authorities were requested to search the Lurline when it arrives there on the theory the wallet may have been tossed from the liner.

San Jose, Calif., Nov. 11 (AP)—Reports that kidnapers had made contact with members of the A. J. Hart family demanding payment of $40,000 ransom for release of the son, Brooke Hart, 22, were vehemently denied by all investigators and members of the family today.

Read Vetterli, head of the bureau of investigations, department of justice, San Francisco, said late last night: "Up to the time I left the Hart home a few minutes ago there had been no contact whatsoever with the abductors of Brooke Hart. It there had been such contact, in any manner, I would know about it."

The father was as emphatic in denial as was Chief of Police J. N. Black. Sheriff William J. Emig, members of the family and close friends who had been with them all day and evening.

Granted New Trial.
Los Angeles, Nov. 11 (AP)—The $75,000 judgment awarded Mrs. Marian T. Read of Oakland, against Claire Windsor, actress, over the love of Alfred C. Read, Jr., former broker, has been set aside and a new trial granted the actress. In a brief opinion given late yesterday, Superior Judge J. P. Spruill declared the verdict was so grossly excessive and unreasonable as to indicate the jurors had been swayed by passion and prejudice.

Several Churches Join To Celebrate Birthday Of Luther, 2 Services

Local Churches and Others in This Vicinity Unite to Hold Anniversary Service to Commemorate Martin Luther's Birthday.

Two big services will be held in Kingston Sunday to commemorate the 450th birthday of Dr. Martin Luther. At 2:15 p. m., at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, eight Lutheran congregations are uniting to hear Prof. Abdel Ross West, D. D., Ph.D., of Gettysburg, Pa., who will speak on "Martin Luther and Our Time." His message will be most interesting and informative. The following churches are cooperating at this service: Trinity Lutheran of Kingston; St. Paul's Lutheran of Kingston; Redeemer of Kingston; Atoneement of Saugerties; Christ of Ellenville; St. Paul's of West Camp; Christ of Woodstock; and Mt. Calvary of Ruby. A choir consisting of representatives from these congregations will sing under the direction of Prof. Leonard Sadler, with Prof. Fred Richens at the organ. The jubilee offering to be taken will be for the benefit of the benevolence fund of the United Lutheran Church.

The musical program will be as follows: Prelude—"Prelude and Fugue in E Minor"—Bach; Anthem—"The Lord is My Life"—Horatio Parker; Anthem—"The Radiant Morn"—Woodward; Organ Offertory—"Variations Upon an Original Theme"—A. R. Heise; Postlude—"Grand Solemn March in D Flat"—by H. Smart.

The second service is to be held at Immanuel Lutheran Church, at 7:30 p. m., the Rev. E. White, pastor, the speaker will be the Rev. Fred Lindemann of New York, who will speak on the topic, "Martin Luther—Rebel or Reactionary?" The pastor of the church will conduct the service. Three choirs will sing. The musical program is as follows: Prelude—"Allegro"—G. C. A. Kaeppl; Children's Choir—"In Darkest Days a Vessel Fought"—Tosetti; The Male Choir—"Out of the Depths I Cry to Thee"—Luther; The Mixed Choir—"Our Father, Thou in Heaven"—Luther; Organ Offertory—"Andante"—A. Heise; The Postlude—"March in D Major"—B. Schumacher.

George Weil will be at the organ.

Thermostat Mystery Is Solved by Saxe

Sheriff Saxe Investigates Lack of Heat in Courthouse—Ice Placed on Thermostat Kinds Chilly Atmosphere.

During the past several weeks the automatic heating controls at the courthouse have been on strike. Visitors at the courthouse have noticed a chill in the atmosphere. Sheriff Saxe has attempted to correct the defect but thus far without results. On the upper floor in particular the heat refuses to trespass and the supreme court chambers and library have been uncomfortably cool. In the past the heating plant has worked well but for some mysterious reason of late it has been acting more like a Frigidaire plant.

Various means have been taken to correct this defect temporarily pending a mechanical determination of the ills of the plant. Radiators have been shut off in certain parts of the building to force steam to cooler parts but this has not been the solution.

It has been suggested by some that the heating plant is now on NRA regulations and is working shorter hours per day.

However, Sheriff Saxe, who is frequently called on to solve baffling matters, has hit upon a temporary solution of the problem. The heating plant is controlled by a thermostat in the back office of the sheriff's quarters. Evidently the thermostat is not observing NRA rules and is working overtime for the thermostat shuts off the boilers long before the building is comfortable. Recently Sheriff Saxe took the matter in hand and decided that if the way to fight cold was with cold, so he secured a small piece of ice which, conveniently wrapped in a piece of paper towel, was placed near the balky thermostat. The thermostat tripped and the boilers cut in and heat was brought to the chilly portions of the building. This experiment offered a suggestion that perhaps the thermostat was in error and a new one is being sought.

Incidentally when the new one is installed it will be placed in a cooler portion of the building in the hopes of securing a more even distribution of heat. The result is being awaited with great interest by those who have been acting of late as though they were suffering from good old chills and fever.

Japan Suggestion Is "Hands Off" Policy

Gist of Proposed Russo-Japanese Policy Will Treat of Mutual Abstention From Military Activity on Siberian-Manchurian Border.

Tokyo, Nov. 11 (AP)—Mutual abstention from any military activity along the Siberian-Manchurian border that would be likely to arouse distrust is suggested as a subject for Russo-Japanese negotiations by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota.

"It would be a good idea," he said yesterday, "to extend the provisions of the Portsmouth treaty, whereby Russia and Japan agree to abstain from military measures along their mutual frontiers, to the entire extent of the Siberian-Manchurian border."

Roosevelt Awaiting Utah's Notification Before Ending Taxes

Proclamation Expected About December 5 Which Will Relieve Taxpayers of $227,000,000 Burden—Word of Edict Effective on January 1—Capitol Stock and Excess Profits Levies Off.

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt expects to issue a proclamation about December 5 to end taxes that the treasury estimates are producing about $227,000,000 a year.

These taxes were included in the National Industrial Recovery Act for the special purpose of financing the emergency program. Attached to them was a proviso under which a Presidential proclamation would end them—after repeal.

Repeal officially will come on the afternoon of December 5. President Roosevelt, represented as regarding his tax-suspending proclamation as mandatory, intends to issue it as soon as he has received formal notification of the action which makes Utah the thirty-sixth state to ratify the new repealing constitutional amendment.

This notification, because of routine or the distance of Utah from the national capital, may be delayed for a day or so, but the President plans speedy action.

When he does act, his proclamation will, beginning January 1, eliminate half a cent of the Federal gasoline tax and the 6 per cent now levied on dividends of the source. On July 1, 1934, the capital stock tax will end and the excess profits levy will be dropped at the end of the taxable year chosen by the taxpayer.

Miss Ida McMillan Died Suddenly Here

For Nearly Half a Century She Had Served as a Member of the Faculty at School No. 2, Retiring From Active Service at Close of School Year in June.

Miss Ida McMillan, who retired from active service as a member of the faculty of Public School No. 2 on West Chestnut street, after nearly half a century of continuous and efficient service, died suddenly early this morning of heart disease at her home, 137 Franklin street.

Miss McMillan when she retired for the night Friday complained of not feeling in the best of health, but thought that she would feel much improved in the morning. Last summer when the schools closed for the summer vacation period Miss McMillan announced that she was retiring and her resignation was received with regret by the board of education.

Miss McMillan early in life decided upon a teaching career and after graduating from the Albany State College for Teachers she returned to Kingston to accept an appointment as a teacher in Old Ulster Academy, the school where she received her early education, which in later years, with the erection of the central high school, became School No. 2, and for 49 years Miss McMillan served continuously as a member of the teaching staff of the school.

Her ability and the results she accomplished as a teacher were recognized and appreciated by the board of education and her fellow teachers, and her work will be particularly remembered by those who had the pleasure of being pupils in her room in school. Her work as an educator was such that she was rated as one of the best teachers to serve in the Kingston school system.

Miss McMillan is survived by two brothers, Archibald and Harry McMillan. She was also a sister of the late Charles McMillan.

Relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral services from the late home on Franklin street on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Montrose cemetery.

Radcliff Will Have Charge of School 3 And Boyd School 1

Frank B. Radcliff Transferred from School No. 1 to School No. 3 to Fill Vacancy Caused by Principal Cullen's Death—Raymond Rignall Added to City School Staff.

Principal Frank B. Radcliff of School No. 1 in Wilbur has been transferred to the principalship of School No. 3, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Principal Patrick H. Cullen, and A. J. Boyd, who has been serving as assistant to the principal of School No. 6, is transferred to have charge of School No. 1.

The teachers' committee of the board of education in announcing the above changes announced that Raymond Rignall, son of the Rev. C. E. Rignall, pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, has been engaged to fill the vacancy at School No. 6 caused by the transfer of Mr. Boyd to School No. 1.

Nations Pause Today To Honor War Dead; Silence Is Observed

Irish are Turbulent and Burn British Flags—Mexico Marks First Observance—France Musters Military Units—Prince of Wales Acts for King George.

(By The Associated Press)

The nations paused today to revive memories of a peace which came to a war-torn world fifteen years ago and to honor those who fought and died in the great war.

In many parts of the world millions paid silent tribute to their soldier dead. Activities were brought to a halt at 11 o'clock, the hour at which the World War armistice became effective and which was the signal today for the start of many memorial services.

All over the United States veterans of the world conflict gathered to salute their fallen comrades.

The eternal light in New York's Madison Square was the center of observance in the metropolis with officials of veterans' organizations, the army and navy and the city and state flocking to participate in the observance.

In Washington the President and Mrs. Roosevelt turned toward the tomb of the unknown soldier to place flowers there.

England's observance of Armistice Day centered around the cenotaph in London, where the Prince of Wales acting for King George, planned to place a wreath in memory of Britain's war dead, while thousands stood in silence.

France mustered a brilliant military display in Paris. A ceremony at the tomb of the unknown soldier under the Arc de Triomphe attended by President Lebrun and members of his cabinet headed the program. American war veterans in Paris also marked the day.

Italy, which celebrated Armistice Day a week ago, the anniversary of the ending of the war on the Italian front, held another celebration, this time in honor of King Victor Emmanuel's 64th birthday.

Every city and town was decorated with flags and banners. Canada marked the anniversary with observances in virtually every city and town in the Dominion.

Mexico observed Armistice Day for the first time since the war ended, the government decreeing two minutes of silence at 10:37 a. m. The Irish Free State began its celebration last night with a noisy demonstration in Dublin culminating with the burning of two British Union Jacks on the college green.

Germany and Austria do not observe Armistice Day, but both had special events before them. Germany and election tomorrow, and Austria the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the republic.

LIEUT. CHARLES DIXON

Lieut. Charles Dixon, "Father" of Old Co. M., Dead After Operation

Widely Known Military Man and Armorer of State Armory Died Early This Morning in Benedictine Hospital—Funeral Services on Tuesday.

Lieutenant Charles T. Dixon, armorer at the state armory, and widely known military man who served overseas during the World War, died early this morning, Armistice Day, at the Benedictine Hospital where he had recently undergone an operation for appendicitis.

No member of old Company M was better known, more popular or was a better non-com in the old days before the World War than First Sergeant, later Lieutenant Dixon. On the point of being rejected for overseas service during the World War on account of defective vision, Sergeant Dixon pleaded so hard that he was permitted to go with the company. Recommended for the officers' training school, he was once rejected on account of his eyes, but finally, after the company was in Germany, he was admitted and later commissioned Lieutenant. The members of old Company M called him "Father Dixon" because of the care he exercised over them in Camp Wadsworth and overseas.

Lieutenant Dixon in a letter written to a friend and published in The Freeman under date of June 17, 1919, wrote:

Coblenz, Germany, May 10, 1919. "I am sending you a picture I had taken in Wuppertal, Germany, some time ago, which will show you I have not lost weight, and I don't feel as though I had a hard time of it. Of course, that is the way I feel now. I have two arms, two legs and am in the best of health, so I have nothing to kick about and when I think of some of the poor fellows I have seen I certainly count myself as being fortunate."

I have some job now. I am acting as a battalion adjutant and provost marshal. I have to sign all passes for any one to leave this area, and try all soldiers and Germans who get arrested. The first thing I did was to give orders to the M. P. forces not to make any arrests, and of course made a hit with officers and men. You should hear me give some poor guy that got an overload of their German wine a temperance lecture. Got Billy Sunday licked to a frazzle, but I learned long ago that boys will be boys and have a kick over the traces once in a while. I have had no cases in two weeks, but you should see me listening to complaints from the Germans.

If one of our horses takes a bite of grass or a soldier steps on a garden they send in a bill, and if they can prove it was an American the government pays them their money. I think the government is too easy with them. You would never think they were a conquered people. I will be glad when we get out of here. We expect to move to Luxembourg this week, and from the way it looks we will be on our way home the first of July. It can't come too soon."

That letter, which was not written with the thought of it being printed in his home town newspaper gives the reader a clearer insight as to why Lieutenant Dixon was one of the most popular military men that ever left Kingston.

Lieutenant Dixon was born in Whiteport and later moved to Kingston where he had spent the remainder of his life. As a youth he was keenly interested in military affairs and soon became a member of old Company M in the old state armory on Broadway. He took an active part in the company affairs and at the outbreak of the World War he was serving the company as first sergeant, and was mustered out of service at the close of the World War and his return home as a Lieutenant.

Lieutenant Dixon after his return from the World War was assigned to become one of the military men in charge of the old armory, and at the time of his death held the position of armorer of the new state armory on the driving park grounds on Manor avenue.

During the many years he had been connected with local military affairs he became widely and favorably known, and news of his death came as a shock to his wide circle of friends. He entered the Benedictine Hospital recently to undergo an operation for appendicitis and failed to rally from the operation.

Besides his wife he is survived by a daughter, Katherine; one brother, Robert Dixon, of East Orange, N. J., and two sisters, Mrs. James P. Dwyer and Mrs. Augustus O. Sanding, both of Kingston.

Funeral services will be held from 10 to 11 o'clock at the residence of the family, 100 West 10th street, on Tuesday.

Marching Feet—On Armistice Day

They Mark Peace's Hopeful First Anniversary And Its Troubles Fifteenth

By DALE HARRISON

Armistice Day 1919

Armistice Day 1933

MILLIONS of men are marching, but not to war . . . This is Armistice Day; the first Armistice Day; the anniversary of World Peace.

So they say. The marching feet say it. The message of peace rolls clear and strong from the sounding-board of pavements:

Tramp! Tramp!
Peace! Peace!

Medals gleam on hero breasts. There is snap to the step of soldier feet, swing to the soldier hips.

Proud women smile from the crowds that line the sidewalks. They cheer. They wave handkerchiefs and little flags.

Some—a great many—weep.

More to the women than to the men this is Great Holiday. The men fought. The women waited.

They lay awake through horrible, unending nights.

Bombs that burst six thousand miles away, and shells that whined death, were no more real to the men who crouched in trenches than to these women who in the silence of black night heard them at home, in their hearts.

But that is all over now! The War to End War is over! Surely you can hear them say it, those marching feet:

Tramp! Tramp!
Peace! Peace!

There he comes! My boy! How straight! How handsome! With his helmet on no one can see the ugly scar on his head.

Johnny! Johnny! It's me—Mother!

He doesn't see me. There are so many of us mothers here on the sidewalks, waving little flags, and weeping.

But he knows I am here. He knows that wherever he marches—Over There, over here—I am with him always.

Tramp! Tramp!
Peace! Peace! Peace! Peace!

It is the Requiem of War.

AGAIN they parade in praise of Peace . . . Fourteen years—1919-1933—is a long time, and memories are short. Peace pacts yellow and crumble. Words of everlasting amity, earnestly spoken, fade. Always there has been Armistice, and always there has been War.

Again the marching feet:

Tramp! Tramp!
Peace! Peace!

Thus they speak in America. But over there . . . A Germany, conquered in a war to end all wars, throws off the shroud her conquerors fashioned, and cries out:

"I am as good as you. I have a right to live."

Impudently she strides from Geneva. Within her borders storm troops drill. Orders snap. Heels click.

France behind bulwarked borders watches. Barbed barriers bristle along the borders of Austria.

Over Italy roar clouds of fighting planes.

In the Chaco trouble churns.

In Moscow and Tokyo envoys bow formally, and exchange memoranda.

Japan's growing army bivouacs in Manchukuo—even inside the Great Wall.

China, racked by banditti and by feud with Japan, sing-songs hopelessness over bowls of rice.

IN WASHINGTON, the fingers of a Veterans' bureau clerk dance over the keys of an adding machine . . . disability compensation . . . Military and naval insurance, medical, hospital and domiciliary services . . . The figures mount to seven billion dollars. And this is but a drubbing of the total cost of the war to the United States.

Diplomats in frocks coats gather. They say: "Peace! Peace!"

The pavements resound to marching feet. Women who that first Armistice Day waved handkerchiefs, twist them nervously. Thoughtful men shift uneasily, one foot to the other. Diplomats stroke their beards.

Marching Feet! Marching feet!

Tramp! Tramp!
Tramp! Tramp!

Forbidden it be the Requiem of Peace!

This afternoon Herbert Low, who during the past year has won several honors as an equestrian, will compete in the Good Hands Class for Junior Riders. The "Rider and Driver," a magazine devoted to horses and horsemen, carries a picture of this young rider in the November 1933 issue.

This week-end Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herzog of Green street will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Morden of Hamilton, Canada. Today Mr. and Mrs. Herzog and Mr. and Mrs. Morden are attending the Yale-Georgia football game at New Haven.

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Schrowang of Mountain View avenue entertained at a bridge party at their home. Among their guests were Miss Carolyn Jackson and Charles Huggie of New York city.

On Wednesday Mrs. Robin Stelle entertained at a small birthday luncheon at her home on Clinton avenue in honor of Mrs. Ward Ingalls.

C. A. Baltz and his daughter, Miss Florence Baltz, of Clinton avenue, with Miss Winifred Clarke and her father of New York city, are spending the week-end at Canton, N. Y., where they are attending the St. Lawrence-Clarkson football game. All four members of the party are St. Lawrence alumni.

This coming Wednesday evening the Hi-Y girls and the Hi-Y boys of the high school will hold the annual fall banquet for the school faculty. As usual the banquet will begin at 6:30 o'clock and will be held at the Y. M. C. A. The speaker of the evening will be Professor W. J. Reagan, head of the Oakwood School at Poughkeepsie. The committees in charge of arrangements are Miss Janet Goodsell, Miss Mary Cunningham, Miss Mary McManus and Miss Mary Matthews, president of the Hi-

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Nov. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Garret Wulfschlegel visited Kingston Wednesday.

Harry Kniffen is enjoying a week's hunting in the Adirondacks.

Miss Jessie Prieth, of the health department of the Normal School, attended a regional institute on child health in Artery Hall, Vassar College, Wednesday morning. November 8.

Mrs. Lund, a student at the Normal, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lund, in Hopewell Junction.

Emily Pallet was a week-end guest at her home on Cottage Place in Neuron.

Miss Alice Gardner visited Poughkeepsie on Thursday.

The Misses Ada Mae and Catherine Burleigh and mother of Plurarch visited town one evening the past week.

Miss Marjorie Smith, who teaches at Lynbrook, Long Island, spent the past week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith.

Miss Ellen Harvey of New College, Columbia, spent a few days recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Harvey.

Mercedes Rossi and Dot Johnson were recent visitors of school friends in town.

The sermon subject for the morning service at the Methodist Church Sunday, November 12, will be "The Need for Statesmanship." At the Reformed Church, "God or Country." At St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, "Love of the Devil and the Hate of God." At St. Joseph's Church, Mass at 9 o'clock. Sermon, "The Mass—Why in Latin?" Second part, "What the Mass Really Means." The three Protestant Church services are at 11 o'clock.

Rose Diskin, a student at the Normal, entertained a guest from St. Louis at the "Hollywood" in New York city the past week-end.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Nov. 11.—The Rev. Albert D. Deyo of Locust Valley and Miss Kathryn Van Wageningen of Montclair, New Jersey, called on Miss Mary C. Van Wageningen on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family and near friends and relatives of Ashton Hart, who died at Kingston Hospital on Wednesday evening.

Charles E. Purcell of The Clove recently underwent an operation at Poughkeepsie and is still under the care of the doctor. His relatives and many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

A concrete wall is being built about the brook by St. John's Episcopal Church to protect the property from overflow.

The weather for the past few days and the recent snowfall make it feel as if the winter was fast approaching.

ELMENDORF PRESBYTERIANS

CHANGE HOUR OF SERVICE

Hour of the second worship service on Sunday in the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church will be changed from 6 to 7:30 beginning November 19. It was voted Thursday night by the congregation. Tomorrow there will be only the one service in the morning, members having decided to join with the Roundout Presbyterian Church at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at a historical service in celebration of its 100th anniversary.

The meeting, attended by 120, was preceded by a "church family supper." Reports were heard from the Board of Trustees which recommended that there be no reduction in the budget. Increases in the budget were asked to help in church promotion, build up the library of music, provide for repairs and funding of obligations. Trustees will act on a recommendation to increase fire insurance coverage. It was voted to consolidate obligations of the church.

It was decisively voted to hold a Sunday night service, the 5 o'clock vesper coming relatively so soon after close of the Sunday church school, which follows the morning service. Morning worship will continue at the usual hour, 10:30. Both choirs will be used every Sunday. Hitherto the Junior Choir has been responsible for the music of vesper. In place of a choir, congregational hymn practice is recommended for the Sunday night service, the congregation being given the responsibility for music of that service for the next few weeks. Miss Edna Merrinew will be the organist and Raymond DuBois the soloist.

The Sunday night service of worship will be arranged by the session at its meeting tonight, and announcement made before next Sunday. Dr. Goodrich Gates, the minister, will preach a series of sermons on the general theme, "The Price of Spiritual Recovery." This will deal from the Christian point of view with such subjects as "After Prohibition What?" "What Ethics Govern Kingston Business?" "Is the Old Morality Gone?" "Is America Ripe for a Dictatorship?"

This Sunday morning the sermon will be on an Armistice Day theme, "The Lost Legions."

The Court of Arches

The Court of Arches is an English ecclesiastical court of appeal of the archbishop of Canterbury as metropolitan of the Province of Canterbury. It is presided over by an official called Dean of the Arches. While the court takes its name from an ancient building in which it sat centuries ago, it now sits at Lambeth palace. It is the court which unforwards ordained clerics. Appeal is only to the king.

Fur and Metal Cloth for The Opulent

New York—Waistlines have not been getting themselves talked about recently because they have been staying where they belong and have stopped playing high-low. But here's a coat with a high waistline, and that is news. It's a caracol coat, too, which of course doesn't mean that it is not a perfectly good model for a cloth one, or even better still, a velvet.

One must admit to seeing a number of dress models with a snugly fitted mid-section that contrives, no does this coat, to suggest a raised waistline. We warn you that it is not an easy line to wear, but for this reason those who can wear it are making the most of the opportunity.

It's almost fur coat time, and there certainly is enough variety, not only in silhouette but in accepted furs to give one a wide choice. Lamb is still faithfully following the fashionable Marys, and nutria has had a new lease of life, while chet cat has leaped into popularity now that Schiaparelli has looked upon it and found it good.

There was a lot of talk about seal, especially the Victorian's idea of elegance, Alaskan seal, and there is of course mink and hosts of other lovely furs for which to part with one's hard-earned money. Every wardrobe should have at least one fur garment, be it cape or jacket, coat or neck-piece. This one piece should be plus a muff. One might say the same thing about metal.

It is interesting on autumn days when the wearing of coats is not obligatory or when the coat is removed, to observe the number of women wearing woolen and crepe dresses touched with metal. These are usually black with gold, the metal introduced in embroidered dots, and in vestees and collars and cuffs that suggest the Lavin influence. Also seen are dresses in woolen with gold sequins worked into the fabric, a material that made its appearance a few seasons ago but has never reached the volume stage. Metal is best liked for blouses.

A HIGH WAISTED COAT

Individual in silhouette is this black coat with indicated upturned waistline detail, three fur buttons providing the side closing. The shoulder collar is of sable. Sleeves show modified decorative fulness just below the shoulders, and are fitted closely through the lower sections.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

The stole influence is apparent in fur trimmings. The mink-tail stole scarf especially.

Fur or Forehead?

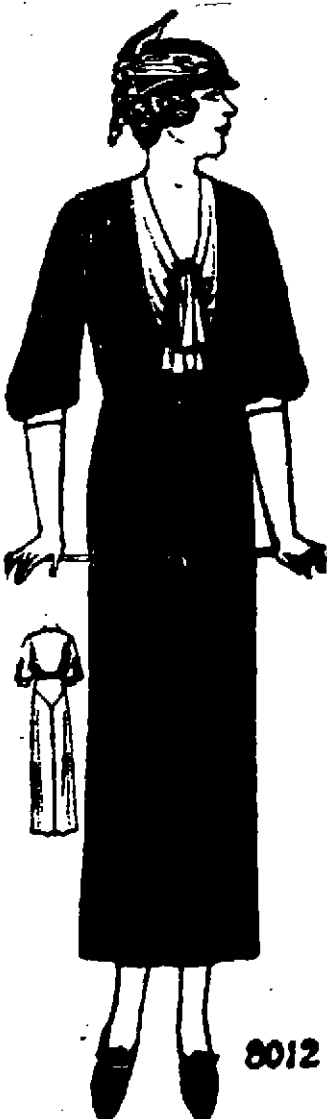

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

The turban illustrated at left is an interesting combination of black American broadtail and stitched arlequin. The latter is arranged in a graceful draping for side width.

The youthful off-face model is of black satin-flecked duvetyne. A veil, drawn snugly across the forehead, keeps the coiffure in place.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A distinctive style for the larger woman.

8012. A new sleeve and a very attractive collar feature of this pleasing model. The skirt—cut with center front and center back seams, is mounted on a petal-like ruffle. Shoulder tucks lend pleasing fulness. A plaid insert is smart on the sleeve cut in just the right length, and finished with a deep band of velvet over which the sleeve pouch gracefully. The dress was developed in a new printed crepe in black and white with plain crepe for vestee and cuffs. The new velvets and failles are also good for this design.

Designed in 9 sizes: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 50 and 52. Size 44 will require 4 1/2 yards of 29 inch material together with 5/8 yard of contrasting material for vestee and cuffs. If made without contrast, size 44 will require 5 yards. To trim the tie with narrow edging as pictured in the large view, will require 1 1/2 yard. The width of the dress at the lower edge is 2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

A Glance in a Milliner's Shop

Youthful versions of the off-face silhouette which vary the line cleverly in order to avoid any monotony are being developed. Among the types shown at a chic shop is a black velvet Breton with silver at top, a ribbed velvet model with the crown creased and trimmed with satin bows; the bonnet above mentioned is felt with feather detail, and an off-face hat beret trimmed with a feather brush.

A version of the son'sweater is effective, with section crown and stitched brim cuff theme in working out the off-face line, some wide, some narrow.

The dinner hats are very original, and consist of a mere circle of lace, with a halo of gold cord. Vels threaded with gold fashion other versions, held in place by a band of better's plush and with a ruffle of the veiling falling over the neckline at back.

While continuing to give black due prominence, smart shops are making definite efforts to make women color-conscious both in daytime and evening fashions, and to this end many dresses are shown in bright and clear tints, including hitherto, and rust, red and bottle shades of green, sapphire and royal blue, that substitution for black are offered in blackberry, very dark brown and purple.

FASHIONS by ELEANOR GUNN

Furs Refuse to be Standardized and Are They Smart!

Very blue soft, wide-finished woman in a standardy smart, unbuttoned coat with fabric loops giving oblique shoulder line, in short with elegant hem of multi-pleated skirt.

Waist-length jacket of silver gray American broadtail with tickled-brown curved shoulder detail, buttoned with smooth-finished wooden back of identical hem, and the skirt hem is of the first, mature fur.

First three coats of silver fur complement a long-coat ensemble in brown green woman of broken diagonal seams. These skirt detail is of interest. The felt hat is in the manner of Schiaparelli's "chapeau" with its diamond-shaped hat effect top.

Sailor-collared one-piece dress in colored gray heather mixture is worn with black fabric hat again reflecting the Follies influence, and complemented by long snail of silver fur.

The early autumn invasion of Paris-dressed women is the fur cape costume, shown here in a distinctive all-black version, combining high-length cape of black French lamb with pointed fastening detail, with black crepe skirt. Previous lamb makes the tipped front section of the turtleneck, with back in rose-rust velvet.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Many dinner dresses have sleeves in three-quarter length, fitting snugly at the lower arm, and often slashed above, from shoulder to elbow, the slash frequently repeated at the center back of the bodice.

Metal weaves are strong rivals of velvets and are important for entire gowns and costumes, also as accents.

High luster satins are stressed in high style collections with white important, also black.

Necklines in the Paris Manner

Gloves neckline gracefully relieved by diamonds.

Clinging flared suit with many pearl and black.

What Smart Shops Are Showing

Bright colors register all the way up the avenue. Bright blue is accented in velveteen and woolen dresses and also in suits. A smart shop gives over a whole window to vivid blue with slight purplish cast. Bright golden woolen is seen. Moss green is considered one of the bright colors. Suits as well as dresses take to the livelier shades occasionally. Shops are emphasizing a salmon tone for a soft woolen suit with dark brown predominating in the plaid woolen peplum blouses.

Velveteen dresses put in their appearance, all in bright colors.

Knitted things are displayed everywhere, a group of sweaters features the type of cardigan with high slit pockets.

Unusual Color Scheme For a Wedding

New York—Madonna blue and American Beauty red was the color combination of the attendants' costumes at an ultra fashionable wedding. The pale blue bridesmaids' gowns were made with bouffants of matching petals outlining the décolletage, which was high in front and dipped low in back. Full length blue crepe gloves, reaching to the shoulder line, made a picturesque touch.

Picture hats of American Beauty velvet were trimmed with a single billowing ostrich feather draped to one side, and the American Beauty roses which the bridesmaids carried just matched the hats and pumps.

Films and Fashions

Inquiries are being received in Paris about "Madame Bovary" hats. Agnes is making hats for the film production of "Madame Bovary," not yet released, but advance publicity is inspiring costumers to baptize their models accordingly.

Style of scenes in the "Madame Bovary" film reveal that poke bonnets, shoulder-fitting capelets, and dresses with Basque bodices which button up the front are among the fashions. Long earrings and old-fashioned brooches are worn with these period costumes.

Among the films now running in Paris the Alexander Korda production of "Henry VIII" is much talked about, and considerable praise is heard for the costuming of the picture, the clothes being reproductions of those seen in Holbein portraits.

Ensemble Approved by Chic Women

Below at extreme right is a frock which features puff shoulders of tiered metallic fabric.

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild.

This morning ensemble is in red silk tulle, has the skirt shorter medium gray burlesque argente (a and silk in the back. The tiny collar of silver is edged. The skirt is relieved by a jade green cabochon trim with gray caracul; the scarf end goes through an opening on the opposite side to make a large bow at front when coat is closed. The blouse is in plaid woolen in two tones of gray. When blue and white with the lower part of the sleeve in the material of the ensemble.

The afternoon dress in dark grape tulle, rhinestones and sequins all adding sparkle to the scene, and applied discreetly.

One of the most popular dresses this season is in crinkled velvet with ostrich in matching color introduced to give a drop-shoulder line, and it is a favorite with specialty shops uptown. Coq feathers too are in good standing, posed at the knees and also at the shoulders of jackets and dresses.

In their offerings of formal fashions smart shops give important prominence to velvet and lame, the latter often in accents. The Lavin

Skirt fulness is posed toward and at the back, in shirred sections, godets and pleats. All skirts are slim and flat at the front except for those following the Viogest tech-none with fulness arising at a high line; also those with bouffants and bows that make for knee-high fulness.

Last summer more than 20 research professors were engaged in archaeological work in Egypt.

In keeping with the feeling for elegance and luxury are furs, extending in lavish borders and collars, and feather, coq and ostrich, are soft accents that appeal to women. With clothes with an extravagant appeal glittering trimmings are highlighted.

Activities at Jewish Community Center

Sunday, November 12, Hudson Valley Jewish Educational Conference will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the auditorium of the center. Representatives from various Jewish communities in the Hudson Valley will be present. The conference is of interest to all concerned with the problem of the theory and practice of Jewish education.

Rabbis, teachers and Jewish leaders will have an opportunity to discuss matters of moment in the Jewish educational field. All those interested in Jewish education are urged to attend.

Rabbi Herbert Bloom of Kingston will be chairman of the conference. The conference will be addressed by Dr. Samson Benderly of New York city, Dr. Bamberger of Albany, Rabbi Maurice Bloom of Newburgh, Rabbi Benjamin Brilliant of Kingston, and others.

There will be a supper and pleasant entertainment before the evening session. This conference is an annual event and has proven very successful in the past.

The new Community Center Co-ed Club will meet Monday night. At this time the constitution will be read for adoption and plans for the year discussed.

As usual, the Boy Scouts will also meet Monday night.

At the same time, the former Flowers of Zion Club will meet at the last meeting of this club. Irene Suskind was elected president; Blanche Kirschenblum, treasurer; and Rose Silverberg, secretary.

Rabbi Brilliant will conduct his class in Bible with Commentaries (for older folks) on Monday night also.

Tuesday, November 14, Ralph Bloom will lead the group in "Jewish contributions to Civilization."

Wednesday, November 15, the Young Israel Juniors meet.

Thursday, November 16, Prof. Huntington of New Paltz will give a lecture. Girl Scouts will also meet Thursday night. Rabbi Brilliant will have his class in Hebrew and Rabbi Epstein in Jewish History.

Saturday, November 18, Young Israel intermediates and seniors meet.

CARD PARTY

Benefit of St. Columba's Church, EAST KINGSTON.

MONDAY

NOVEMBER 27th

Cash starts at 8 P. M.

Taxpayers Attention!

Two very important objects of the KINGSTON TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION are, first, to keep the city budget as low as possible and, secondly, to insist on a greater amount of permanent improvements for the money expended in work relief.

The association is politically non-partisan and must maintain this status. Any recommendations made should have in mind the welfare of the city as a whole. Individual complaints of personal grievances should be referred to a committee for investigation. General discussion of private wrongs in the regular meetings of the Taxpayers' Association will lessen the effectiveness of the organization.

If it is indicated by the attendance at the monthly meeting on Monday evening, Nov. 13th, that the taxpayers of Kingston are alert to the benefits to be derived from effective organization, then there will be no doubt of the success which will crown its efforts.

A canvass for 500 new members is being conducted at the present time. If you have not been approached, come to the meeting at the CITY HALL, MONDAY NIGHT, NOVEMBER 13, at 8 o'clock.

Let's fill every seat and overflow into the halls.

NOTICE!

We have a number of good slightly used coal, gas and oil burner boilers including American Radiator, Hot Jacket, and Type A heat machine, Spencer, Gurney, Burnham Bryant Gas, York, etc. These boilers are all guaranteed. We will deliver and set them up complete at a very low cost to the party who can use them.

Talks to parents

Transplanting

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

The Joneses were making one of their numerous moves, and things in the new home were at sixes and sevens.

The first night was lonely and desolate, with an uprooted family trying to be comfortable and happy in strange surroundings. But the next day Mr. and Mrs. Jones got busy, and while the children were at school hung curtains and pictures, put down rugs and set the furniture in place.

"They were rewarded by the sight of relief from the returning children and the exclamation, 'Now it's really home!'"

The exigencies of modern business and careers, make the life of a large part of the population very nomadic. Backgrounds and environment shift and change as they rarely did 50 or even 25 years ago.

There is a certain thrill and excitement in the new sights and scenes, especially to the children, but there is also a disturbing sense of insecurity and a lack of orderly sequence in life.

There is a material connecting thread to hold the present and future together is very helpful in giving stability and a feeling of background. Houses may change, streets and cities flow by, even countries and continents be left behind for new ones, but if the piano or the clock or the big old chair, or if possible all the furnishings of the home remain the same, the wrench to the child will not be as difficult nor the readjustment as trying, since a part at least of his surroundings will remain fixed and familiar.

Children, like plants, thrive better for not being constantly uprooted, and just as a little soil left on the roots will help the plant to root again, so a little of his past left with a child will assist in his transplanting.

MT. TREMPER.

Mr. Tremper, Nov. 10.—The community was saddened by the sudden death of Mrs. John Gardner on Saturday evening after a very brief illness. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock a short service was held at the home and at 2 o'clock at the Reformed Church, which was filled with the many relatives and friends of the deceased. The Rev. A. F. Faus, pastor of the church, officiated and was assisted by the Rev. R. P. Ingersoll, who spoke such comforting words to the bereaved family. He also sang as a duet with Mrs. W. R. Ingersoll the two beautiful hymns, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Rock of Ages." The floral tributes were many and very beautiful, showing the high esteem and love felt for the one who will be greatly missed in the home and also by the many friends which she won by her cheerful friendly disposition. The interment was in the Hutter Cemetery and the rites at the grave were conducted by Brothers Ariste De Silva and Frank Carle, of the Mt. Tremper Grange, of which Mrs. Gardner was a member. The bereaved were also Grange members, Benjamin Howland, Ariste De Silva, Frank Carle and George Bryson, and Deeper sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Reed and brother Howard Schaff, of Washington, D. C., were called here by the death of their mother, Mrs. John Gardner. Mr. and Mrs. John Boerker expect to leave on Sunday for St. Petersburg, Florida, where they have a winter home.

Mrs. Norman Wilber has returned home from New York city, where she spent several days visiting her

Sundown Stories

The Pilot

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

When Jelly Bear and Honey Bear recognized the voice that had come from the plane there was happiness and great relief for the voice was that of Christopher Columbus Crow.

"Caw, caw, where are you?" he cawed.

"Here I am," shouted the Bears together as they came out from behind the rocks. Christopher was wearing driving goggles and an aviator's helmet.

"There has been great excitement in Puddle Muddle!" Christopher said.

"First Grandma made a fuss about Top Notch's escape and her broken window until Willy Nilly told her that the window was so loose it just fell out with a flap or so of Top Notch's wing, and then we heard that Grandma had gone after both of you with his gun because you had taken some of his nuts and apples."

"We knew you could lead him a long chase, but I had a better idea than that. I remembered that in flying about the country I had seen a small plane in a field that took people up for short flights. It didn't seem to be in much use; so I thought I would go and look it over. I had often watched the pilot as I knew how to start the engine by turning the propeller over with my strong right wing and I had noticed how he used the controls."

"Well, I've been flying around in it for ever so long and only just a few minutes ago saw both of you."

"Now if you both get in the plane I'll fly you back to Puddle Muddle."

The Bears were nervous at the thought of flying, but it seemed the only thing to do.

Picturing Defects in Steel

Radium is used to photograph defects in steel posts and beams up to ten inches in thickness. Exposures require from 20 to 30 hours, this length of time being necessary for the rays to pass through the steel and register all imperfections on the film.—Collier's Weekly.

Cocoa and Chocolate

Chocolate and cocoa are made from the large nutritive seeds or beans of the theobroma cacao, a small evergreen tree native to tropical America. The word cocoa is an English corruption of cacao. The usual commercial forms of chocolate and cocoa contain other ingredients beside cacao.

FORBIDDEN VALLEY

A SERIAL
by
William Byron Mowery

CURT TENNYSON plunged into the Canadian wilderness to track down ICOR KARAKHAN, an international crook—and found the most alluringly beautiful woman he ever met.

SONYA NICHOLS had no place in the dangerous, rugged country in which CURT sought his quarry. Her fragile beauty was in strange contrast with the impressive savagery of their surroundings. But CURT soon learned that SONYA'S Madonna-like face hid a secret that threatened to crash his dreams of love and romance, that she might be an enemy luring him into a trap.

CURT discovered with a shock that SONYA, too, was headed for KARAKHAN'S hiding-place on a mission she refused to reveal or explain but that implied all too strongly a romance in which CURT was not to share.

William Byron Mowery tells the story in masterful style, an exciting drama in the Northwest, packed with action, suspense and climaxes.

Our company's profits have been the highest in the history of the company. This is due to the fact that we have been able to keep our prices low, while our competitors have been forced to raise theirs. We have also been able to keep our quality high, while our competitors have been forced to lower theirs. This has resulted in a steady increase in our business, and we are confident that we will continue to grow in the future.

Summary of Prices On the Egg Auction

During the past week a total of 275 cases of eggs were sold on the Mid-Hudson Egg Auction in Poughkeepsie. The following is a summary of the prices paid for the eggs of various grades in case lots.

White Eggs
Large—Grade A, 42 to 44; producer's grade, 30 1/2 to 31 1/2. Mediums—Grade A, 27 to 29; producer's grade 25. Pullets—Grade A, 22 1/2 to 24. Peewees—21 to 22 1/2.

Brown Eggs
Large—Grade A, 40 to 42. Pullets—28 1/2 to 30.

The volume of eggs consigned to the auction by members has been increasing gradually. The directors are very anxious to have the volume increase in this way to encourage more and larger buyers to patronize the auction. This will build up the demand for the large volume which is likely to be received during the late winter and spring months. The auction has now completed a full year of operation in a very successful manner. All poultrymen have benefited by the auction although they have not consigned eggs to it. The increased price during the past year in the Hudson valley it is stated has been due almost entirely to the presence of the Mid-Hudson Auction at Poughkeepsie. It has also stimulated better grading which has resulted in a larger demand for the higher quality local eggs.

Brief Sketches Of Foreign News

(By The Associated Press.)

Tokyo—In the midst of new Russo-Japanese difficulties over the alleged flight of Japanese army planes over Soviet territory, Foreign Minister Hirota suggested that the two nations consider mutual abstention from any military activity along the Siberian-Manchurian border that would be likely to cause distrust.

Vienna—Despite a declaration of martial law to prevent disorders on the eve of Austria's celebration of the republic's fifteenth anniversary tomorrow, unidentified men killed one Heimwehr (home guard) auxiliary policeman at Lochau and wounded his companion officer.

London—Threatening weather caused King George to remain indoors as the Prince of Wales led in London's Armistice Day ceremonies.

Havana—With the capital regaining a semblance of calm, uprisings were reported against the government in other parts of the island following the two-day revolution.

WEST SHOKAN
West Shokan, Nov. 11.—The spell of premature winter weather hangs in the reservoir country. Not in many years if ever within recollection has snow of similar depth fallen and remained so tenaciously in early November. Just a wonderful opportunity for sledding firewood for those fortunate enough to have a supply stacked in the woods in readiness. A sufficient woodpile is surely a proven friend in need against the time of winter. Such weather as this with its crisp mornings cause farmers to cast wistful glances toward those sleek corn fed porkers awaiting the knife, for hot buckwheat cakes and new crop sausage for the breakfast menu go hand in hand.

PORT EWEN HUNTERS BRING BACK BIG BLACK BEAR.

Hubert "Buddy" DuBoise and Berrier Sleight, both of Port Ewen, hunting in Watson Hollow Friday, shot a big black bear weighing about 275 pounds. It was quite a task getting the big fellow out of the woods, but it was accomplished and the bear is now hanging on a tree near the residence of Mr. DuBoise for his friends to look at.

Find Ford Eligible

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP).—Comptroller General McCall ruled today that Henry Ford is eligible to receive government contracts although he has refused to sign the NRA automobile code on behalf of his manufacturing companies. He held that Ford can be listed as ineligible only if it is proven that he is violating the code and that the burden of proof in that case rests with the government.

"I will admit," said the famous painter, "all the world to be competent judges of my pictures, except those of my profession."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 11 (AP).—After mulling about listlessly during most of today's brief session, stocks rallied moderately in the final half-hour. Gains of fractions to around 2 points predominated at the close. Caution was the watchword of most traders, however, and transactions were accounted for largely by professional transfers, approximately 450,000 shares.

With the grain markets closed for Armistice Day, equities had little inspiration aside from an advance of 12 cents an ounce in the domestic gold price to $33.32. London also lifted its gold rate about as much. The dollar gyrated erratically, sterling, after losing some 2 cents in early dealing, cancelled virtually all early declines. French francs also sagged and recovered. Bonds were somewhat irregular, although the Federal list displayed rallying tendencies.

Shares of U. S. Smelting got up more than 2 points and raisins of around 2 were held by Western Union, Case, Allied Chemical, American Telephone and National Distillers. Others up fractionally to a point or more included U. S. Steel, American Smelting, U. S. Sugar, General Electric, Pullman, International Nickel, Patino Mines, Cerro de Pasco, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, Goodyear, Johns-Manville and McIntire Petroleum. Vulcan Detinning, usually inactive, came into demand for a gain of 6 points.

Industrial analysts were none too cheerful over recent major business indices which, during the past week, registered a moderate decline. There was some pick-up in retail trade forecasts, however, and trade reviews forecast Christmas sales would show a substantial improvement over those of the previous year.

Mrs. Dopson Gets Suspended Sentence

New York, Nov. 11 (Special to The Freeman).—Mrs. Anna M. Dopson, Middletown bank teller, for 15 years connected with the First Merchants National Bank and Trust Company there, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging her with theft of about $360 from the bank and received a suspended sentence today from Judge John M. Woolsey in Federal Court.

A plea in behalf of the defendant was made by Assistant United States Attorney Morris Kanfer who told the court that the situation was an unfortunate one as the woman had been left with full responsibility of bringing up a family since her husband had left her years ago. He pointed to a previous unblemished record in Middletown.

The court agreed that it was a tragic case and gave her a suspended sentence of a year and a day.

Mrs. Dopson was accompanied in court by her grown up children, a son and a daughter, and by the Rev. Roman L. Harding, who was her pastor when he had a local congregation.

Mr. Kanfer stated further that Mrs. Dopson had made full restitution, turning over to the bank her interest of $1,000 in a legacy from the estate of her friend, the late Ira C. Tiffany of Middletown.

The missing funds were discovered in May by the bank conservator, Cleveland B. Childs. He questioned Mrs. Dopson and obtained a complete written confession at once.

Her method had been to remove funds from deposits made the last day of the month. The failure of the amounts to appear on the bank statement a day later aroused no question, therefore. The next month she would replace this money and take a portion of some other month-end deposit.

About the Folks

Mrs. R. Frederic Chidsey is ill at her home on Maiden Lane.

Mary Doyle was removed from 336 Clinton avenue to the Benedictine Hospital in the ambulance Friday.

William S. Hogan of 150 Wall street who has been very ill at the hospital is recovering and expects to be able to return home in a few days.

Miss Betty Sarbacher of 105 Cedar street is in the Kingston Hospital recovering from an appendicitis operation. All her friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Miss Kate Golden and Miss Mary Sheehan, senior nurses of the Benedictine Training School, leave Monday for New York Foundling Hospital in New York city, where they will affiliate in pediatrics.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN RESCUED FROM FIRE

A mother and two small children had a narrow escape from being burned to death when their home at Cementon was destroyed by fire Friday morning.

The house was the property of the Alpha Portland Cement Company and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Tony Yekowich and their two small children, aged about five and two years.

The fire, which is believed to have been caused by an overheated chimney, was discovered by Chris Yekowich, of Cementon, who was passing the house. He saw smoke issuing from cracks in the building and the rooms were filled with smoke.

Running to the house, Mr. Yekowich peered into one of the windows, but could see no one. He broke a pane of glass and then saw the unconscious forms of the two children lying on the floor.

Forcing an entrance, he picked up the children, who had been overcome by smoke. He carried them out of doors and ran back into the building to search for other members of the family.

Mr. Yekowich found Mrs. Yekowich in a bed room on the second floor and he assisted her outside to safety.

FOUR PERSONS HURT AND MERCHANDISE LOST IN CRASH

Croton, N. Y., Nov. 11 (AP).—Mrs. Edwin Corning, wife of the former lieutenant governor of New York, and four other persons were hurt, and merchandise valued at $12,000, was destroyed in an automobile accident last night on the Albany Post Road.

Mrs. Corning's automobile and a transport truck were burned, and with them a $3,000 milk coat, a $2,000 fur auto rug and the merchandise in the truck.

Two maids employed by her were seriously injured. Mrs. Maud Holmer suffering a possible fracture of the skull, and Mrs. Nancy Clark suffering several fractured ribs. Both live in Irvington, N. J.

TROOPERS EXPECTED TO BE CALLED TO BARRACKS

Troopers Reilly and Senecal, the last of the motorcycle men to remain out, are expected to be called into barracks within a few days and surrender their motorcycles for the winter months. Trooper Reilly has been on duty along the Saugerties road and Trooper Senecal has been on patrol from Port Ewen south during the summer.

Litvinoff, Roosevelt Hold Friendly Talks

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt and Soviet Ambassador Litvinoff today held friendly talks.

Official sources forecast announcement next week of an understanding on Russo-American recognition. Supporting this prediction were personal chats between Mr. Roosevelt and the Russian ambassador adding up to more than four hours, and state department meetings which swelled the total discussions to more than 10 hours.

Further conferences were declared to be "obvious" by William Bullitt, special assistant to Secretary Hull, and an authority on Russian affairs. But just at present no arrangements have been made for these meetings.

President Roosevelt's own White House study last night was the scene of the longest and most intimate exchange between the Chief Executive and Litvinoff. For three hours lasting until midnight, Russo-American issues were thoroughly reviewed.

Bullitt was the only other official present.

Before the conference, the President told news writers there would be nothing to report afterward except progress. Bullitt, when leaving the White House with the ambassador, recalled that statement and reiterated it.

Litvinoff wore the smile the capital has come to regard as a flimsy. In reply to questions as to the executive mansion, he said "conversations with Mr. Roosevelt are always pleasant."

Health Officer Warns Of Tropical Disease

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 11 (AP).—The State Health Department announced today the receipt of a telegram from a Chicago health official asking that New York state physicians watch for any cases of "amebic dysentery" among persons who have been in Chicago within the last three weeks.

Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., New York state health commissioner, said the disorder was a communicable and serious tropical disease one of the symptoms of which is abdominal distress.

"It is most unusual for an epidemic to appear as far north as this," he said. The department was informed in Chicago. None has been reported in New York recently.

"As a communicable disease, cases should be reported at once to the department or local health officers," Dr. Parran said. "This will help tracing the source."

SENATOR RUEY LONG EGGED BY ALEXANDRIA AUDIENCE.

Alexandria, La., Nov. 11 (AP).—Senator Huey P. Long had a suspicion today that not everybody in this city is his friend.

The Senator was the target for a barrage of eggs and over-ripe fruit last night while making a speech on the city hall steps. By dodging, the Senator avoided being hit, but the bombardment caused him to interrupt his speech to call his unseen adversaries "politics, lowdown pups and scoundrels."

The Senator had just started on new taxes and re-distribution of wealth when two eggs whizzed by his head and smashed on the steps behind. Some oranges and lemons followed, interspersed with stench bombs and more eggs. Several spectators were hit.

Members of Long's bodyguard had an idea the barrage came from office buildings across the Square and started to search them. Their entrance to one building was blocked by Cliff O'Malley, chief of police.

EDDYVILLE MEN TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

Next Tuesday evening, the Eddyville M. E. Church Club will hold its monthly business and social in the church lecture room. The officers of the club and the pastor, the Rev. Wesley Gebhard, who has charge of both the Connely and Eddyville M. E. Churches, are planning a very interesting program. A prominent speaker has been engaged to talk to the men on an appropriate topic. Refreshments will be served at the close of the business session after which a social time will be enjoyed.

BABY REPORTED KIDNAPED FOUND SAFE AT NEIGHBOR'S

Los Angeles, Nov. 11 (AP).—A report telephoned to the Los Angeles police department from a police officer at Wilmington, 20 miles south of here, said that a baby, Baldwin, 16-months-old son of F. Baldwin, who had been reported kidnaped, was found in a neighbor's house this morning.

The child, the officer stated, had wandered away from home when left alone by his parents and was taken in custody by a neighbor who found him crying in the street.

Police said they would investigate why the woman made no report to them of finding the child.

Lindberghs Hop Off To Parts Unknown

Geneva, Nov. 11 (AP).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh left Geneva today on a flight to an unnamed destination.

The colonel said he wished to have a look at snow-covered Geneva from the air, but it was known that if flying conditions were good he would continue to San Sebastian, Spain.

The National Club fired a cannon salute as the Lindberghs' big seaplane soared aloft from the lake and spiraled above the city.

Lindbergh stood at attention on the quay while bells were ringing in an armistice ceremony shortly before the take-off. Later, as his plane swept over the clubhouse where an American flag was flying, he wobbled his craft in salute.

Campbell Hall Man Fatally Gored by Bull

West Shokan, Nov. 11.—It was learned by relatives and friends here on Tuesday that Abe Bush of Campbell Hall had been gored and trampled to death by a large bull at his farm on Monday. Mr. Bush, it appears, was attacked while attempting to handle the animal in the pasture field.

Nearly neighbors, learning of his plight, secured rifles and shot guns and rushed to his assistance. Some dozen or more shots were fired at the infuriated animal before it toppled from its feet and away from the mangled form of its owner.

Mr. Bush, who was a carpenter by trade, in pre-revolutionary days, made his home with his mother and sister, Chris, on the Watson Hollow road a short distance below the present store of William V. Colange. He was a nephew of the late Jake Crispell.

Local Death Record

WHEN YOU NEED A FLUOR

At The Theatres

Today

Kingston: "Footlight Parade."
So much success with "42nd Street" that Warner Brothers here, that musical comedy repeats seem to be in the air these days. This latest production lacks the heart aches and romance of "42nd Street," but to many it will be even more appealing. It is a show that possesses everything. A cast of hundreds includes Joan Blondell, James Cagney, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee and Frank McHugh to mention a few of the outstanding performers, and a chorus of the most attractive girls seen on the screen in some variety. Well sung and catchy of tune, it has new dances, grand comedy moments, stage settings of such grandeur as to take the breath away. It moves swiftly, lavishly, unadorned from the opening scene until the close. Specialty numbers are many in this talkie, and the water scene is as gorgeous a thing as has ever been brought to the screen. The characters in the show are secondary, the story line is the link. James Cagney does a good job in his singing and dancing role, and Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell and Joan Blondell are right at home before the footlights. Well entertainment.
"Orpheum: "Lucky Dog" and "Sunset Pass." Chic Sale, Buster, and Tom O'Brien are the main characters of the first talkie, a dog story that is good and well played. "Sunset Pass" is a movie version of the Zane Grey story of the same name, and it stars Randolph Scott, Noah Beery, Tom Keene and Harer Carey in the featured roles. The story is filled with action, real cowboy riding, and gun shooting.
Broadway: "Shanghai Madness" on the screen, and four acts of vaudeville on the stage. The stage offering brings a worthy assortment of features in Tarzan, the human ape man, Bobby Jarvis and his revue, Jones and Wilson in an act entitled "Lary Bones," and songs and laughter by the team of Cunningham and Bennett. "Shanghai Madness" with Spencer Tracy and Fay Wray is a Chinese tale, in which Tracy, a discharged American navy officer, falls in love with Fay Wray, rescues her from Chinese communists and does other notable heroics, so well the navy reinstates him. Eugene Pallette is also in the cast. The photography is exceptionally good.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "The Half Naked Truth" and "Galloping Romeo." How a smart and progressive press agent gets his ideas across to the general public is demonstrated in this first talkie with Lee Tracy and Lupe Velez. As the clever publicity agent, the maker of overnight stars, Mr. Tracy is in his element, and Eugene Pallette and Frank Morgan lend ample support. "Galloping Romeo" is a western yarn with Bob Steele.
Broadway: "Saturday's Millions." The recent Saturday Evening Post story of Lucian Cary proves to be exceptional screen drama. Football, how it affects the lives of those who play it, and to what extent it has become a racket, are touched upon during the course of the film. Robert Young, Leila Hyams, Johnny Mack Brown and Andy Devine head the cast. The story centers around a brilliant ball totter, idol of the university, and headlined in the papers from coast to coast because of his ability to carry a football fast and far. He is of the opinion that college football is a racket, and that he is a sucker to play it. He finds out that it isn't in the most dramatic part of the show. There are some unusually good football scenes, and the college air seems to prevail throughout this talkie. Exciting, dramatic, humorous, and well played, this play is worth seeing. "Tarzan the Fearless" is also an added feature of the program.

PROHIBITION—ITS RISE AND FALL: No. 3 Repeal Accomplished In Less Than a Year

AL SMITH AN EARLY REPEALIST JOUETT SHOUSE A CAPTAIN IN THE DRIVE MRS. CHARLES H. SABIN THE ADVOCATE LEADER

JIMMY WALKER HE LED A PARADE THE VOTERS THEY PUT IT OVER

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT HE FULFILLED HIS PLEDGE

A vigorous repeal movement started before the ink was dry on the prohibition amendment. The voice of one of its most outspoken opponents thundered through the Volstead era's political conventions when Alfred E. Smith called for an end to dry law. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, headed by Jouett Shouse, was matched in the vigor of its opposition by the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform and its president, Mrs. Charles H. Sabin. Forerunner of a growing repeal sentiment was Mayor Jimmy Walker's colorful New York beer parade, followed shortly by legalization of 4.2 brew. Pleas by Postmaster General James A. Farley calling on the states to approve repeal and to help President Roosevelt fulfill his campaign pledge helped to steam up the anti-prohibition bandwagon.

the courts were not in sympathy. A Changed Social Scene

The end of prohibition means a sweeping change in the social scene. Speakeasies, in states that permit it, will replace saloons. Speakeasy proprietors and a large number of bootleggers must seek new means of livelihood. There are signs that temperance societies, in almost total eclipse during the 13 years of the prohibition era, again will spread their doctrines forcefully and colorfully.

After December 5, when the thirty-sixth state convention ratifies the repeal resolution, legal liquor once more may be had—under just what conditions remains to be seen.

Farley Appeals To States

Postmaster General James A. Farley, in the last minute wind-ups, must take a quick action. Farley made himself a one-man enforcement squad to carry out the orders of the Democratic platform.

He journeyed into many states to carry his message, and in some he made direct appeals on the eve of election for the voters to do away with the amendment.

Prohibition enthusiasts continued their fight to the last ditch. In some states they carried the issue to courts, contending that the conventions and elections were illegal. But conditions remained to be seen.

Michigan, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Wyoming, New Jersey and Delaware voted approval in quick succession. The true tests were met in conservative Indiana and Iowa. Both voted for an end to the eighteenth amendment, and after T. T. Mrs. Ella Boone said, "It is the rich who lead the way to repeal and are supported by the unthinking and the lawless."

Beer and wine were merely gestures to feel the pulse of the nation, and that they were good gauges was proved when congress submitted repeal to the states. Prohibitionists were sure they could line up 13 long and hard. In New York dapper "Jimmy" Walker had marched, in pinching patent leather shoes, for seven miles to lead a gigantic beer parade that moved from noon until past midnight.

But the prohibition forces weren't to give up easily. Just before she left her office as head of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Ella Boone said, "It is the rich who lead the way to repeal and are supported by the unthinking and the lawless."

Repeal Sentiment Spreads
Even before, repeal sentiment had been growing rapidly. Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, Al Smith, New York (P)—Repeal rolled in with Roosevelt. The action, as was evident in the dramatic events of spring, summer and fall, 1933, was ready for a change in liquor regulation.

BOWLING SCORES

Williams Makes Record

Ken Williams of the Post Office No. 1 team established a new triple score in the Industrial League of Bowlers' alley, Friday night, scoring 300 in three games—213, 213 and 244. This record bettered Gil Sampson's 292. Sampson, by the way, is the only bowler in the league who has scored 300 in a single game. He holds the record in the Silver Palace League.

FORDHAM A STRONG FAVORITE OVER N. Y. U. ELEVEN

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Fordham Rams, one of the East's most powerful football arrays, ruled a strong favorite over their traditional rivals, the Violets of New York University, at the Yankee Stadium today.

Fordham entered the game with only last week's defeat by St. Mary's marring its record while N. Y. U. already had been beaten by West Virginia, Colgate and Georgia. The game was the 14th of the series begun in 1904 with Fordham leading eight victories to four with one tie. N. Y. U. hasn't scored a point against the Rams since 1928.

Z.N.P. To Open Season At White Eagle Tuesday Night

Tuesday night at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, the Z. N. P. basketball team will open its season against the P. N. A. of Poughkeepsie. Starting time of the game is 8:30. There will be a preliminary between the Winkley All Stars and St. Mary's girls at 7:30. Following the contests there will be dancing with music by Andy's orchestra.

The Z. N. P. will use its regular players: Johnny Dudek, Randy Kiefer, Chet Kiefer, Billy Kennoch, Louis Kolano, Eddie Musialkiewicz, and Kas Musialkiewicz. With these boys in action, Manager Frank "Dolly" Tesso feels confident of victory over the Polish boys from Poughkeepsie.

In the lineup of the P. N. A. will be: Pot, Kochinski, Frank Dukac, Ed Stokrocki, Eddie Kochinski, Johnny Bablacz, Joe, Bock and Ed Clark.

Last year this club went through the season, winning 38 games and losing only 12. It played two contests with the Z. N. P. of Kingston, breaking even in the decisions.

From enthusiasm being shown it is predicted that there will be a large number of basketball fans on hand to cheer the Z. N. P. on to victory in its takeoff.

Toronto — Ed Don George, 217, North Jara, N. Y., defeated Wee Willie Davies, 245, Richmond, Va., two out of three falls (George, 25:35; Davies, 8:45; George, 3:47).

Minneapolis — Dick Shikat, Philadelphia, threw Joe Cox, Cleveland, 48:34.

Purdue Tackles Notre Dame.
South Bend, Ind., Nov. 11 (AP)—Coach Noble Kizer, the man almost everyone thinks will direct Notre Dame's football forces next year, brought his undefeated Purdue Bollermakers to South Bend today intent on heaping more misery on the victory starved Ramblers. A crowd of 40,000 to 45,000, the largest in two years, was expected to watch the battle called for 2 p. m.

San Diego, Calif.—Sammy O'Dell, 148, Akron, O., knocked out Tommy Huffman, 152½, Long Beach, Calif., (2).

Football Builds Sunday School Class

Mrs. Dorothy Lambert of Columbus, O., sighted one day as she observed the membership of her Sunday School class had dwindled to four boys. "Not enough for a football team," she said. "I'd coach a team if we had enough boys." Next Sunday there were twelve in the class! Practice started immediately and the team has been playing regularly ever since. Mrs. Lambert is the widow of the late Dr. Fonso A. Lambert, for years chairman of the advisory council of the national rules committee, and knows her football. In the accompanying photograph she is shown giving her young charges a tactical lecture on the way the game should be played.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

After canvassing the situation pretty thoroughly, here are our (the sport staff's) nominations for the 1933 James E. Sullivan Memorial Medal, awarded annually to the outstanding American athlete:

1. William R. Bonthron, Princeton University, track.
2. Glenn Cunningham, University of Kansas, track.
3. George T. Dunlap, Jr., New York, golf.

We can find very little to choose between Bonthron and Cunningham for our top nomination for the year in American amateur athletics. There is a strong case for either. In our opinion they easily dominate the entire field of contenders.

Cunningham's background, his conquest of physical handicaps and his unquestioned courage under hot competitive fire must be marked down to his credit, along with a notable list of achievements at home and abroad, outdoors and indoors. He met and defeated all the best millers with the exception of Lovelock, Recall and Bonthron. These exceptions, of course, are conspicuous and it is a matter of opinion as to how Cunningham might fare against any one of them. His record nevertheless is good enough and consistent enough to entitle him to rank with the great millers.

Highest Type Of Amateur.
Bonthron's development as a champion and record-breaker is one of the real sensations of 1933. In this respect his rise is much more rapid than that of Cunningham. In the strictest and plainest sense, he offers the highest type of amateur athlete, competing only in his natural class and environment, rather than making a business of being an amateur performer.

Last winter, as a further example of the finest spirit, Bonthron sacrificed his chances of individual victory in the I. C. A. A. one mile run by concentrating his efforts on the anchor half-mile of the Princeton two-mile relay team, all the other members of which were seniors whose only chance of winning hinged in Bonthron running an exceptional race. He did and Princeton won.

Outdoors in the I. C. A. A. A. meet Bonthron won the 800 and 1,500 meter titles with a pair of great performances. He then capped the climax of his season by running second to Jack Lovelock in the greatest mile race of all time in the Oxford-Cambridge race, coming back a short time later to win the half mile in remarkable time and clinch the meet for the American forces.

Bonthron's sportsmanship in his losing race with Lovelock as well as his speed stand out, to our mind, as the greatest individual contribution of the year to amateur sport.

Dunlap Consistent.
As to the third choice, George T. Dunlap, Jr., his achievements in reaching the semi-finals of the British amateur golf championship and in capturing the United States amateur title make him one of the year's most consistent figures in amateur sport. A graduate of Princeton, 2 years old, he typifies the best in amateur sporting (Walker Cup) a year ago and in his play abroad this year.

Dunlap lived up to the best American traditions.

Falcon A. C. Picks First, Second Teams

Friday night at the first practice of the Falcon A. C. in White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, Manager Walker and Captain Stanley picked a first and second team. On the first are the following players:

J. Bradford, rf.; Stanley, lf.; J. Conroy, center; L. Gentry, rg.; and A. Guess, utility. This team will play in the Kantowitz League, starting against the Kings at the old armory November 14.

The second team: A. Guess, L. Guess, M. Werner, J. Smith, Tom Madden.

Young men wishing to join the Falcon A. C. may do so Wednesday evenings at the club, 98 Hahnbrouck avenue.

Teams wishing games with either the first or second team should phone 1233-W or 2157.

Rip Van Winkle Triangle Officers

The regular meeting of the Rip Van Winkle Triangle, No. 51, Daughters of the Order of the Eastern Star, was held on Thursday evening, November 9, at Masonic Hall, 268 Wall street, Kingston. After the regular business meeting a number of guests were invited to witness the beautiful installation ceremony.

The retiring beloved queen, Pearl Howard, very gracefully expressed her thanks to the officers, supervisors and friends for their cooperation and help in getting the organization established during her term of office and again pledged her loyalty to the Triangle. She was then led by the guardian, May Jones, through the Garden of Memories where each officer reminded her of their love and friendship and best wishes.

The following officers were then installed: the junior deputy, Mrs. Edna Van Tassel.

Edna Buchanan, Edna Beatty, Priscilla and Evelyn Howard, Violet Schmalzke and Margaret McCormick, as guides; Mariel Gratton, musician; Doris Stadelman, historian; Ruth Terpening, standard bearer; Almeda Gerlach, flag bearer; Harmin Lawatch, marshal; Nina Neese, assistant marshal; Heeter Slight, treasurer; Edna Abbot, financial secretary; Kathleen Slight, corresponding and recording secretary; Phyllis Van Buren, chaplain; Janet Phinley, guardian; Mae Jones, junior lady-in-waiting; Al hea Schaefer, senior lady-in-waiting; Harriet Whitbeck, beloved queen.

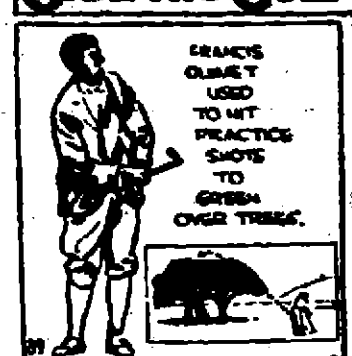

The following members of the Order of Eastern Star were installed as supervisors: Miss Alice M. Scardefield, Mrs. Ethel M. Jones, Mrs. Bert Cottine, Mrs. J. Rodman, Mrs. Schoonmaker.

Bert Cottine and Raymond Whitbeck were installed as daddies of the Triangle.

The beloved queen, Harriet Whitbeck, as she assumed the duties of her office, expressed her thanks and appreciation and pledged herself, as beloved queen, to the service of the Triangle.

Following the closing ceremonies refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed by all.

GRAPHIC GOLF

OULMET'S IRON PRACTICE

MORE practice hitting golf shots tends to become uninteresting unless some element of competition is injected into the picture to relieve the monotony. Naturally a golfer to overcome weakness in certain shots must practice these shots painstakingly and regularly, a process that often calls for a considerable amount of will power. In such circumstances it is an aid to make the practice as difficult as possible; making hazards lead a competitive tone to the play.

For instance, Francis Oulmet as a youngster used to hit his practice iron shots to the green from behind a tree and in each attempt try to hit over the top. Not only was the element of height to be considered, but also the length of the shot in order to land it somewhere near the pin. In time the former amateur champion was able to carry the tree tops in consistent fashion. This valuable practice made shots from the fairway a much simpler process and left a rather confident feeling that even should he land into trouble, he had an excellent chance of recovering without taking an extra stroke.

Salt Once Used by Many as Medium of Exchange

Salt as a standard in the history of commerce antedates the gold standard. As a medium of exchange salt was widely used in many ancient countries. The Moral conquerors of India made decrees thousands of years ago regulating the standard of salt that was used for money. Up until comparatively recent times salt was used as a medium of exchange in the Shan markets in Indo-China.

Besides being used as money, salt in days gone by was a powerful developer of commerce. Being essential to life and unavailable to tribes remote from the sea from which the substance was obtained by evaporation, trade routes were early developed to provide the transportation of salt.

For hundreds of years a caravan route was maintained between Palmyra and Syria ports. Even today much of the caravan traffic in Sahara is largely in this precious commodity. The oldest road in Italy is not the Appian way, but the "Via Salaria," the salt road along which salt was anciently carried from the evaporating pits at Ostia to the Sabine territory.

Indeed, according to historians, the world's second largest city, London, was first founded because of the salt trade. During the earliest days of European history salt was sent from England to the continent. Cheshire and Worcestershire provided salt for Britain and Gaul, and the route for its transportation crossed the country in a southeasterly direction, crossing the Thames, then very shallow, at a ford where Westminster now stands. An inn was built to accommodate salt buyers when the river was too swollen to ford. From this humble beginning as a resting place for salt traders the great city of London resulted.

Octopus Is Fierce

The octopus, or "devil fish" is quite a fierce fellow, with enormous power in his arms, which are equipped with two rows of suckers. The largest specimen ever taken, however, measured only 28 feet from stem to stern, including the tentacles. There are over 150 species of octopi, most of which are quite small. The majority of them spend their lives at the bottom of shallow water, although a few swim freely and some have been netted as deep as 18,000 feet. In many parts of the world the small octopus is used for human food.

Cats Dislike New Homes

It is a well-known fact that cats dislike going to a new home and will often undergo great hardships and travel many miles to get back to the home where they were born.

Mrs. Hays Presented Talk on Holland

Mrs. W. Dean Hays of Fair street gave an address on Holland to the instructor's class of the New Paltz State Normal School on Wednesday. Mrs. Hays appeared in Dutch costume and the school had arranged to have four of the pupils in costume also. The talk was greatly enjoyed.

Card of Thanks.
I take this opportunity to thank those who supported me in the past election of the 7th Ward. At the same time, I wish to congratulate Charles Dorenbacher.

(Signed)
ALBERT VOGEL.

'Farm Relief' For Missouri Valley Seen In Big Montana Dam Project

The Missouri valley looks hopefully toward Montana, where allocation of $25,000,000 by the Public Works administration has assured start of the Fort Peck reservoir project. In addition to freight savings from the water transportation promised, benefits include prevention of soil erosion, such as that which has occurred in the stretch above before engineers went to work. The dotted line (lower left) shows how far the river had encroached. The project contemplates maintenance of a 9-foot channel from Sioux City to the Missouri's mouth.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press.

A Hole in One.

Minneapolis.—Walter Hobart, restaurant proprietor, scanned all the dollar bills that came to him after he was robbed of $45 recently.

Last night an expansive customer ordered some drinks and gave a dollar bill in payment. Hobart scrutinized it carefully, and while his customer was drinking, called police, accusing the man as his robber.

He said he recognized the dollar bill because it was one of eight in the loot which had George Washington's eyes punched out with a pin.

Hardly Commendable.

Montreal.—A youngster attending school here is the cause of any number of raised eye-brows among school authorities.

Writing an answer to the question: "What do you want to do when you grow up?" he set forth the following:

"When I grow up I am going to be a tramp and kill Pap and brake technicians."

One Thing After Another.

Moline, Ill.—Prohibition agents visited Mike Axiotis' home, and dismantled a still they said they found there.

Then Mr. and Mrs. Axiotis went to visit some friends. While they were gone, burglars broke into their home and ransacked the place.

A Surprise.

Evansville, Ill.—Policeman Henry Ducker was surprised after he arrested Mrs. Frances Pentress of Highland Park on a charge of driving 40 miles an hour.

"She didn't bawl me out for not arresting people who were going faster than she," said he.

"What's more, she smiled. It's a pleasure, yes, a pleasure to arrest such people."

Want Good Constable.

Madison, Ky.—Governor Ruby Laffoon was elected constable of the Seventh district in his home town. He polled four votes on written ballots, as compared to three for the nearest opponent. His office as governor disqualifies him for the post, however.

Night Get In Hot Water.

Eric, Pa.—To say that the loot obtained by burglars who robbed a vacant Eric house is "hot" is putting it mildly. They stole a furnace.

Stick, Eh?

Export, Pa.—It was bad enough when motorists found the highways covered with snow and ice, but they didn't really give up until they got to Export. There they found the road covered with a slick coating of butter and milk. A creamery truck had skidded and upset.

Cold Weather Ahead.

Farmington, Maine.—Folks here look for a hard winter. Chester Greenwood & Company has received an order to manufacture 15,000 pairs of ear muffs. It's the first time in years there has been any demand here for such accessories.

It's His Dish.

Crosson, Minn.—Poa soup is Earl Evans' dish. He won a contest at the annual harvest festival here by eating 20 bowls.

The contestant who was second consumed 24 bowls and the third 16. "I feel fine," said Evans after the contest.

Barbers Out of Luck.

Columbus, O.—The men students at Capital University are allowing their hair to grow long—and no toothbrush defects are responsible, either. Next May 26, they're going to present a play, "Martin Luther," at the University and 75 men students will be cast in various roles requiring lengthy locks.

Local NRA Official Notices and Rulings

NINETY-EIGHT INDUSTRIES NOW OPERATING UNDER NRA CODES

Washington.—The National Recovery Administration's stupendous task of supervising the drafting of codes of fair competition for all American industry is well past the half-way mark. Already the President has approved 98 such business charters, destined to vastly strengthen the country's commercial structure as well as afford employment to many more hundreds of thousands.

Hearings have been completed on about 160 others, some of which are subject to revision.

The work is arduous because the NRA has adhered strictly to the letter and the spirit of the President's public assurance of June 16, when he signed the Recovery Act, that the "new government controls" displacing the "old principles of unchecked competition," must, above all, be impartial and just; and that "the antitrust laws still stand firmly against monopolies that restrain trade and price fixing."

Hearings have been called on more than 50 additional pending codes, and it has been estimated that less than 400 will be required to complete the huge job of fixing rules of fair competition, wages and employment for all trades in the country. This figure is based on tabulations of the last census and certain regroupings of some lines to fall within a single charter, subject to acquiescence of the members.

Ten classes are governed under the general retail code, but because of peculiar variety of stocks, drug stores are under a separate code. Conversely, since the code covering electrical manufacturers was approved on August 4, four separate codes under it have been sanctioned.

The codes approved by the President are as follows:

Artificial flowers and feathers, automatic sprinkler, automobile manufacturing, advertising specialty, asbestos.

Bankers, bituminous coal, boiler manufacturing, boot and shoe, builders' supplies, beet sugar, business equipment, buffing and polishing.

Cast-iron soil pipe, coat and suit, compressed air, corset and brassiere, cotton textile, cap and closure, canning and packing machinery, crown manufacturing, copper and brass.

Dress manufacturing.

Electrical manufacturing and electrical storage battery.

Farm equipment, fishing tackle, fertilizer, fabricated metal products, floor and wall clay tile, and funeral supplies.

Gasoline pump, glass containers, and gas-cock manufacturing.

Heat exchange, hosiery, handkerchief, and hair and jute felt.

Ice, iron and steel, and industrial supplies and distributors.

Knitting.

Lace manufacturing, laundry and dye cleaning, leather, legitimate theatre, lime, linoleum and felt base, luggage and fancy leather, lumber and timber products, and leather and woolen knit gloves.

Men's clothing, motion picture laboratory, motor vehicle retail, mutual savings banks, marking devices, motor bus, millinery and dress trimming, and men's garter, suspenders, and belt.

Nottingham lace curtain, novelty curtain, draperies, bedspreads, and novelty pillows.

Oil burner, optical, and office equipment.

Petroleum, photographic manufacturing, pump manufacturing, plumbago crucible, packaging machinery, paint, varnish, and lacquer, petroleum equipment, and piano manufacturing.

Rayon and synthetic yarn, retail lumber, retail drug, retail trade, road machinery, and rock-crusher manufacturing.

Saddlery, salt, shipbuilding, silk textile, steel tubular and flexbox boiler, soap and glycerine manufacturing, steel casting, and stock exchange firms.

Textile bag, textile machinery, transit, throwing industry, terra cotta, and toys and playthings manufacturing.

Underwear, umbrella.

Wall paper, women's belt, wool textile, and washing and ironing machinery manufacturing.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

Q. How does NRA regulate the small family store or shop where the owner and members of his family do all of the work and charge little or nothing for their time?

A. In the Retail Code, section 4, article 1, an employee is defined: "The term 'employee' as used herein means any person employed by any retailer but shall not include persons employed principally in the selling at retail of products not included within the definition of retail trade." Hour and wage provisions are to affect only employees and not close relatives of the family who are assisting and not considered as employees or wage earners. Note section 5, article 5, entitled "Limitation upon number of persons working unassisted hours."

Q. Please inform me as to the minimum pay and maximum hours for American seamen.

A. Open hearings on a general code for the shipping industry began November 3. Until a general code or codes covering the various divisions of the shipping industry is approved, companies displaying the Blue Eagle should observe the President's Reemployment Agreement. (See paragraphs 1 and 6).

Q. What steps shall be taken by firms operating under the President's Reemployment Agreement when a code covering their particular trade has been approved by the President and what form of notice is given the public of code approvals?

A. All firms covered by a code are obliged to operate thereunder from its effective date, whether or not the employers have signed the PRA. Newspapers and trade associations announce the promulgation of codes.

Q. What salary should I receive as a telephone operator in a city of 4,500?

A. If a company has less than 1,000 subscribers, your salary as of July 15, 1932, should have been increased by not less than 20 per cent, provided this shall not exceed $12 per week, the minimum for exchanges under class 9.
